

UPDATE: November 4, 2011

On November 4, 2011, the Supreme Court of British Columbia extended the claim registration deadline for one year, to September 19, 2012.

The reason we sought this extension is that we are waiting for decisions from our judges on the initial group of claims filed by four former Woodlands residents in this settlement. It is hoped that once we have decisions on the initial four claims, this will help to speed a resolution of the remaining claims.

Although the Court decided that the extension is without prejudice to the plaintiffs' right to apply for further extensions, there are no guarantees that any further extension beyond September 19, 2012 will be granted.

If you are unsure if the September 19, 2012 deadline applies to you, please feel free to contact our office at 604-714-6159.